

Logic Model: Teacher Leadership Summit (Cecil County Teacher Leadership Network)

Problem Statement: We need a strategic plan for our Cecil County Teacher Leadership Network that will enable us to improve instructional capacity, foster teacher leadership skills, and advocate for public education.

Goal: We will develop a strategic plan to improve instructional capacity, build teacher leadership skills, and advocate for public education.

Rationale:

In Cecil County, Maryland, we have launched a teacher leadership network. We are responding to needs in instructional capacity, teacher leadership skills, and public education advocacy.

Inputs:

1. BEPAC, Mike Schmook
2. Conference participants, Core Strategic Planning Committee
3. Core Strategic Planning Committee
4. Core Strategic Planning Committee
5. Core Strategic Planning Committee
6. Core Strategic Planning

Activities:

1. Research the strategic planning process and obtain exemplars
2. Solicit feedback from conference participants and presenters to inform the content of the strategic plan
3. Invite appropriate stakeholders to be members of the strategic planning process
4. Establish our strategic planning processes
5. Engage Core Strategic Planning Committee to draft the plan

Outputs:

- Receive feedback from conference attendees (March 2016)
- Research the strategic planning process (April-May 2016)
- Determine strategic planning process schedule (May 2016)
- Develop strategic plan draft (Summer 2016)
- Determine the feedback cycle parameters (Summer 2016)
- Develop the communication plan (Fall 2016)

Outcomes:

- Finalize organizational structure, roles, and future direction
- Use the strategic plan to guide network planning and activities

Logic Model: Teacher Leadership Summit (Cecil County Teacher Leadership Network)

Committee

7. Core Strategic Planning Committee

- 6. Solicit feedback from key stakeholders and review and adjust the plan as necessary
- 7. Publish and communicate the strategic plan to stakeholders

Student Impact: If we develop an effective strategic plan, then our teacher leaders will be well positioned to improve instructional capacity, to foster teacher leadership skills, and to advocate for public education, which would enhance all aspects of student learning.